This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at `http://books.google.com/`

NATURAL AND PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

"For many years it has been one of my constant regrets that no schoolmaster of mine had a knowledge of natural history, so far, at least as to have taught me the grasses that grow by the wayside, the little winged or wingless neighbours that are continually meeting me with a salutation that I cannot answer as things are."—CARLYLE.

INDUSTRIAL AND APPLIED ARTS, ENGINEERING, HANDICRAFTS, & MANUFACTURES.

"The introduction of noble inventions seems to hold by far the most excellent place among all human actions. And this was the judgment of Antiquity, which attributed divine honours to inventors, but conferred only heroical honours upon those who deserved well in civil affairs—such as the founders of empires, legislators, and deliverers of their country. And whoever rightly considers it will find this a judicial custom in former ages, since the benefits of inventors may extend to all mankind, but civil benefits only to particular countries or seats of men; and these civil benefits seldom descend to more than a few ages, whereas inventions are perpetuated through the course of time. Besides, a State is seldom amended in its civil affairs without force and perturbation, whilst inventions spread their advantage without doing injury or causing disturbance."—BACON.

RECENT COLONIAL PUBLICATIONS

AND BOOKS RELATING TO THE BRITISH COLONIES.

"Great Britain has been specially called, in the good providence of God, to the heroic work of colonisation. She has by far the largest Colonial Empire in the world: she has facilities for colonisation such as no other nation on Earth has ever had since the foundation of the world: and she has a remarkably redundant, and at the same time a peculiarly energetic people, the fittest on earth for this heroic work, and the most willing to engage in it heartily."—J. D. LANG, D.D.

ECONOMICS, POLITICS, AND TOPICS OF THE DAY.

"In democracies men are never stationary. A thousand chances waft them to and fro, and their life is always the sport of unforeseen or extemporaneous circumstances. Thus they are often obliged to do things which they have imperfectly learned; to say things they imperfectly understand; and to devote themselves to work for which they are unprepared by long apprenticeship."—De Tocqueville.

"It is no more possible for an idle man to keep together a certain stock of knowledge, than it is possible to keep together a stock of ice exposed to the meridian. WORKS OF ROBERT BROWNING.

"Seventeen volumes represent the poet's legacy to his countrymen. And what volumes! Crammed with thought, suffused with imagination, crowded with figures with life more real than half the people we meet, filled with suggestion, historic, ethical, artistic and contemporary, they represent at least fifty volumes, if their full meaning were drawn out and displayed....His spiritual influence has been most profound. No English poet has felt like Browning the pathos of the battle of life. Yet keenly as he felt it, he did not despair, nor bid the world despair. 'We bid ye be of good hope' was his message to the seeming failures in life, a class of ever-growing importance in this self-conscious age. His philosophy of life was eminently manly, and has brought cheer to many a despairing soul. If we could condense it into a formula, the maxim would run, 'Aspiration is achievement.'....If aspiration were indeed achievement, Robert Browning would have been the greatest name in the roll of English poets; and even as it is his work will rank amongst the greatest spiritual forces in England."—ATHENÆUM.

ROBERT BROWNING.

Born at Camberwell, 7th May, 1812; Died at Venice, 12th December, 1889.

(From a Photograph by Messrs. ELLIOTT and FRY.)

"The Anglo-Saxon book-world is served, and well served, by many knights and squires. Till Thursday night it had two kings, fit to be reckoned in the universal golden roll of letters. One of them has passed away. Who will venture to lift, and has the right to hold, the vacated twin sceptre?"

GEOGRAPHY, TOPOGRAPHY, VOYAGES, AND TRAVELS.

"To sit at home with an old folio book of romantic yet credible voyages and travels to read, and an old bearded traveller for its hero, a fireside in an old country house to read it by, curtains drawn, and just wind enough stirring out of doors to make an accompaniment to the billows or forests we are reading of—this surely is one of the perfect moments of existence."—LEIGH HUNT.

"With reading throw not time away,
'Tis by our sex so little needed;
But wilt thou read—make short, I pray,
Lest that the dinner spoil unheeded.
'Tis truth—a she philosopher
Escapes not satire's sharpest stings
And our belles-lettres, I aver,
Lie in our bracelets, gloves, and rings."

RECENT COLONIAL PUBLICATIONS

AND BOOKS RELATING TO THE BRITISH COLONIES.

"England is in the position of a mother who has left her children too much to the care of others in the past. All of a sudden she wakes up to the knowledge that her daughters are growing up, that they are beautiful young women, and that they will do her credit in the world; then she tries her utmost, let us hope before it is too late, to gain their confidence and esteem. I trust it is not too late, for there are signs on all sides that our colonies are as loyal and devoted to us as we could possibly wish them to be, and I believe that every year we live we shall see more attention given to the affairs of our Colonies."—THE EARL OF HOPETOUN.

The Torch

And Colonial Book Circular.

No. 11. LONDON, MARCH 31, 1890. Vol. III.

THE NATIONALITY OF COLONIAL WRITERS.

We have received from Professor Roger de Goeij, Nieuport, Ostend, the following communication, which we place before our readers in the hope that the information desired may be sent to us.

"As a subscriber of three years standing I claim the privilege of suggesting an improvement that would make your circular twice as valuable to me. When I first saw your new venture advertised I expected to find in it not only an index to the contemporary literature of the Anglo-Saxon race, but also some indication of the authors' nationality.

"Now that your paper is in thorough working order could you not indicate the nationality of the authors by putting next to their name some distinguishing sign? When, in the present number (10) for instance, I find on p. 64 :—

Davin (N.F.) Eos: an Epic of the Dawn, and other Poems. cr. 8vo. Reg.na, 1889.

I would like to know whether 'Davin' is a born Canadian or not. . . . The studies I am engaged in require that I should know whether the author is a native of the country under whose bibliography his work is classified or not. . . . For the volumes already published a list could be made of American and Colonial authors classified under various headings as 'Australian born,' 'Canadian born,' 'Naturalized Australian,' 'Naturalized Canadian,' &c."

Professor de Goeij who is preparing a work on the "Contemporary Literature of the Anglo-Saxon Race," makes the further suggestion that if American and Colonial authors would supply us, for publication, with their names, place and date of birth, a list of their works with a note as to when and where they were first published, the study of this important subject would be materially helped.

Our desire is to make The Torch and Colonial Book Circular useful to all our subscribers and valuable for future reference. The particulars which Professor de Goeij desires it is impossible to give ourselves, and we, therefore, appeal to our friends and correspondents who can afford us this or any other useful bibliographical information.

ANOTHER POST OFFICE ANOMALY.

Some of our Colonial correspondents complain that our price is rather high. Yet we charge barely cost of paper, print, and postage. We regret that by a rule of the General Post Office The Torch and Colonial Book Circular is subject to book-post rate. It cannot be registered for transmission at the newspaper rate, like other publications of the same class, because it is not issued monthly. In other words, though we trouble G.P.O. with four instead of twelve issues in the year we are charged four times as much, i.e., 4*d.* for 4 oz. instead of 1*d.* for 4 oz. But for this regulation we should be willing to send our publication direct from London to any part of the world for four shillings instead of six shillings per annum. Each number costs at present for postage alone, eightpence and sometimes one shilling!

We have been told that the rule can be "got over" by calling each issue three numbers. We shall not, however, attempt to evade the rule, which, in the day of small things, may have served some useful purpose, preferring rather to use our endeavours, if rules are absurd or useless, to get them altered or rescinded. Perhaps Mr. Henniker Heaton, M.P., will take up our complaint and add it to his long list of Post Office Anomalies.

Meantime, as we are now supplying it in quantities to Colonial booksellers, future issues will soon be obtainable from them at not more than One Shilling each number. The early numbers are nearly out of print.

SELECT LISTS OF RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

"Give me leave
T' enjoy myself; that place that does contain
My books, the best companions, is to me
A glorious court, where hourly I converse
With the old sages and philosophers."

"Time sadly overcometh all things, and is now dominant and sitteth upon a sphinx, and looketh unto Memphis and old Thebes; while his sister, Oblivion, reclineth on a pyramid gloriously triumphing....and turning old glories into dreams. History sinketh beneath her cloud. The traveller, as he paceth amazedly through those deserts, asketh of her 'Who builded the pyramids?' and she mumbleth something, but what it is he heareth not."—SIR THOMAS BROWNE.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

"England a commercial country! Yes; as Venice was. She may excel other nations in commerce, but yet it is not that in which she most prides herself, in which she most excels. Merchants as such are not the first men among us; though it perhaps be open to a merchant to become one of them Buying and Selling is good and necessary: it is very necessary, and may, possibly, be very good; but it cannot be the noblest work of man; and let us hope that it may not in our time be esteemed the noblest work of an Englishman."—TROLLOPE.

POETRY AND THE DRAMA.

"They speak! the happiness divine
They feel, runs o'er in every line;
Its spell is round them like a shower—
It gives them pathos, gives them power.
No painter yet hath such a way,
Nor no musician made, as they,
And gather'd on immortal knolls
Such lovely flowers for cheering souls."

NATURAL AND PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

"What does philosophy impart to man
But undiscovered wonders? Let her soar
Even to her proudest heights,—to where she caught
The soul of Newton and of Socrates,
She but extends the scope of wild amaze
And admiration. All her lessons end
In wider views of God's unfathomed depths."
—KIRKE WHITE.

NOVELS AND WORKS OF FICTION.

"There are some novels which may be described with a great deal of accuracy as prose poems, but I do not limit myself to them. What is in my mind is simply the reflection of the enormous force which the novel has become in modern life....There was a day in which this younger sister of letters was looked at somewhat askance; people felt she did not come before them arrayed in the garments of wisdom....Now, it is not an unknown thing for a judge to fly from the bench and take refuge in his study and console himself with a novel. Statesmen are known in their leisure hours to indulge in the pages of a three-volume novel; and I know very well that clergymen have done so....And so this young sister—the Cinderella of Literature—has been brought out of her obscurity and, if I might so speak, the Prince, in the form of the public, has preferred her to the elder sisters, poetry or history, for she holds high supremacy."—DR. RECENT COLONIAL PUBLICATIONS

AND BOOKS RELATING TO THE BRITISH COLONIES.

"If we have saved our colonial empire, it is only by conceding with the freest hand to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa all that we once contended for, and giving them the fullest scope to work out their destinies as independent communities, attached to the mother country by ties of common interests and affections, rather than by the hard-and-fast lines of superior force."—S. Dilke (Sir Charles) Problems of Greater Britain. 2 vols. 8vo. 2nd edition. London, 36/-

Also, a Popular Edition in one volume for circulation in the Colonies only. 12/6

This is in no sense a new edition of the well-known Greater Britain. That was a record of travel which, though still in demand, is necessarily in some points antiquated. Not seeing his way to incorporate new facts or correct old statements in such a way as to produce a satisfactory result, Sir Charles Dilke thought it best to produce an entirely new book upon the same subjects as those treated of in the original work, but dealt with from the point of view of political and social observation and comparison, rather than from that of descriptive sight-seeing. The new book, therefore, is not a book of travel, but a treatise on the present position of Greater Britain, in which special attention has been given to the relation of the English-speaking countries with one another, and to comparative politics of the countries under British government. The utmost pains have been taken to obtain the latest information upon the many important problems discussed, and the importance of the book, not only to those who are directly concerned with colonial matters, but to all Englishmen who wish to form an intelligent conception of that "Greater Britain" which is a source at once of so much pride and so much responsibility, can hardly be exaggerated. Some idea of the scope of the work may be gathered from the chapter headings: Volume I. contains the author's Introduction and Part I., North America (Newfoundland, The Dominion of Canada, The United States, Canada, and the West Indies); Part II., Australia (Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, Australia, and New Zealand); Part III., South Africa (The Cape, South Africa). Vol. II.: Part IV., India (Indian Defence, British India); Part V., Crown Colonies of the Present and of the Future; Part VI., Colonial Problems (Colonial Democracy, Labour, Provident Societies, and the Poor; Protection of Native Industries, Education, Religion, Liquor Laws); Part VII., Future Relations between the Mother Country and the Remainder of the Empire; Part VIII., Imperial Defence. A concluding chapter sums up the writer's views on the subject as a whole. A full index is given in each volume, and maps in each instance are also provided.

"Mr. Woodward writes graphically and gives us an admirable sketch of his daily life and labours. His book gives us much to be found nowhere else, and its value is greatly increased by the various engravings it contains. There are also capital charts founded on the Admiralty charts, with some additions and corrections of his own."—Literary World.

"A genuinely good book of its kind, full of solid information as well as of pleasant reading. . . . When the reader closes this book he will feel that he has traversed the rolling swell of the restricted water area as well as pushed through the showy jungle; and he will feel that the unpretentious author has done good service for the stay-at-homes. The maps, also, are well done, and the index makes the bright little book complete."—Spectator.

"One of those valuable contributions to our knowledge which, without starting any specially new theories, gives a true and simple account of a lovely region, and of the lives and habits of some of the most savage people still surviving on the earth."—Speaker.

This work was originally contributed to the London Daily Telegraph in a series of Letters signed "Antipodean." As a further result of his trip, Mr. Trollope produced: Harry Heathcote of Gangoil (1874) and John Caldigate (1875). The scene of a later work: The Fixed Period, an Imaginary Republic, is laid in an island of the South Pacific.

No previous work on the Australian Colonies excited so much criticism as Mr. Trollope's, at home or in those colonies. Among many other criticisms were the following:—

HORNE. Australia and New Zealand. Review of Anthony Trollope's Work. By R[ichard] H[engist] Horne. 8vo. pp. 34. [London, 1873].

The Torch

And Colonial Book Circular.

No. 12. LONDON, JUNE 30, 1890. Vol. III.

With this number our third volume is concluded—we will not say "closed," for we believe its worth will not be without appreciation in the future.

Suggestions have, from time to time, been made by some of our correspondents for the extension and enlargement of the work. Several have asked for an index, and some have sent us matter for insertion relating to India and Ceylon. We have, however, to point out that an index of English Publications already exists in the annual issues of The English Catalogue, and, as regards British possessions in India and the East, that ground is covered by Trübner's Oriental Circular.

While thanking all our friends, private contributors as well as publishers, booksellers, and librarians, for the encouragement and aid they have given to us, we have to repeat that we are still governed by the intentions which moved us to undertake the publication, our object being to catalogue—of six or eight thousand English and American books annually published—only those we have seen or purchased for our correspondents in the colonies. "Selected lists," not too long or too full, not too minutely classified, nor issued too frequently, we believe to be most convenient for the ordinary book buyer. For the rest we desire to include all publications relating to the colonies, wheresoever issued—no other catalogue being devoted to that branch of literature.

The Bibliography of New South Wales (Historical, Descriptive, Statistical), begun in our third number, is now nearly completed. It will probably be followed by that relating to Voyages of Discovery made in Australasia during the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries.

This number also contains our annual list of English and American Magazines and Reviews.

In our previous issue (No. 11, p. 67) an appeal was made on behalf of a valued correspondent for information as to the nationality of colonial authors. One answer only has yet reached us, for which we have to thank The Canadian Gazette (April 24th):—

Mr. N. F. Davin, M.P.—In "The Torch and Colonial Book Circular" . . . . . Professor Roger de Goeij, Nieuport, Ostend, asks whether "Davin," the author of "Eos: an Epic of the Dawn and other Poems," is "a born Canadian or not." In reply, we may say that Mr. Davin is an Irishman by descent and by birth. He is descended from an Irish family settled in Tipperary for some generations, and was born at Kilfinane on January 13th, 1843.

Correspondents will oblige by supplying such details, with the titles of Colonial publications whenever possible.

"Humour is properly the exponent of low things; that which first renders them poetical to the mind. The man of humour sees common life, even mean life, under the new light of sportfulness and love. He who wants humour has an eye for what is above him, not for what is about him or below him."—Carlyle.

NOVELS AND WORKS OF FICTION.

"I read a good deal of fiction—fiction such as George Eliot wrote, and Charles Dickens, and Thackeray, not to mention the great magician of all, Sir Walter Scott. A man who has not been influenced by the higher order of fiction is a man whose mental habits I cannot understand, and for whose mental peculiarities I thank heaven I am not responsible."—Rev. Joseph Parker, D.D.

RECENT COLONIAL PUBLICATIONS

AND BOOKS RELATING TO THE BRITISH COLONIES.

"The impartial mind which rises above the prejudice of nationality must acknowledge that no country will leave a more glorious impress upon the history of the world than England. Her work cannot be undone; should she to-day sink beneath the seas which bathe her shores, her record will for ever stand brilliantly illuminated on the page of history. The great states which she has founded, which have inherited her tongue, and which are destined to play a most important part in the future of civilization, will be witnesses of the mighty work she has accomplished. They will look back to the progenitors of their race who lived in the glorious and never-to-be-forgotten countries of the North, the birthplace of a new epoch in the history of mankind."—DU CHAILLU.

The author (having first visited the Sandwich Islands) arrived in Sydney (via Auckland), in Sept. 1878; he then travelled through N.S. Wales and Queensland, returning to Sydney Nov. 1879: then proceeding slowly overland he reached Melbourne the last day of the year. He next visited Geelong, Ballarat, the Western District, and travelled overland to Adelaide, via Penola, Mount Gambier, Robe, &c. After going north as far as James Town and Port Pirie, he made other excursions from Adelaide to Port Lincoln, Grolwa, &c., returning to Melbourne by the end of 1880, via Mount Gambier, Casterton, Hamilton, Ararat, Maryborough, Castlemaine, and Kyneton. In January, 1881, he made another excursion to N.S. Wales, coming back in March to Melbourne, whence he took passage in the Orient liner ss. "Aconcagua" to Europe. In June, 1882, the author again turned his face to the South, and took passage to Queensland, via Torres Straits, afterwards travelling overland to Sydney and Melbourne, where he arrived at the beginning of March, 1883.

BY REV. BASIL EDWARDS, M.A.

Songs of a Parish Priest. Cloth, 2s. 6d. "The quiet of a country charge has enabled the writer to endeavour to link together many of the objects most prominently connected with sacred thought in a rural parish, and to present the results to the reader in somewhat of a sequence, leading step by step from the Lych Gate to the Altar."

CONTENTS.—The Village Cross, the Village School, the Lych Gate, the Saturday of Flowers, the Clock, the Vane, the Bells, the Vestry, the Porch, the Font, the Lectern, the Pulpit, the Organ, the Altar, the Cross, the Altar Lights, the Paten, the Chalice, the Holy Communion, the Communion of the Sick, the Alms Dish, a Flower Service, Ministering Spirits, Silent Voices, the Rectory, the Old Paths, Our Mother Church of England, &c., &c.

Through all the Varying Year: The Season's Anniversary Book and Calendar of Nature. Arranged by MARY JEAFFRESON. With Spaces for Daily Memoranda, and Prefatory Remarks for each Month, giving account of the Natural Phenomena peculiar to it, and the origin of its name. Imperial 32mo (pocketable size), cloth, red edges, 3s. 6d.; roan, gilt edges, 5s. This little gift book aims at promoting a love of natural and spiritual beauty, in the hearts of the sons and daughters of our native land, by presenting them with such a combination of natural detail with loftiest poetic teaching, as may stimulate to a further study both of Nature and the poets who have been her interpreters from Chaucer's days to our own.

BY J. and W. R. GAINFORD.

Memoir of Incidents in the Life and Labour of Rev. Thomas Gainford (late of Sydney, N.S.W.). Cloth, gilt edges, 7s. 6d.

The Lost Dauphin, Louis XVII.; or, Onwarenhûaki, the Indian Iroquois Chief. With Three Portraits, cloth, 5s. roan, gilt edges, 7s. 6d.; half vellum, gilt top, 8s. 6d.

"The writer deals solely with the American theory, which identified Louis XVII. with Mr. Eleazer Williams, missionary among the Oneida Indians, whose story is certainly remarkable. There is plenty of skill and ingenious pleading in the book."—Saturday Review.

Old Boston: an American Historical Romance. New Edition, crown 8vo, 350 pp., paper boards, 2s. 6d.

"A pathetic story, artistically told. . . . The life-story of the author's heroines is related in a series of vivid and graceful pictures; . . . the descriptions of the political events show careful study; . . . very picturesque and attractive style."—The Morning Post.

BY MISS BLANCHE ATKINSON.

The Web of Life; or, The Story of Peter Holgate's Love. Cloth, 6s.

"No one who reads the first page of this book will care to lay it down until the last has been reached. It is a story of to-day, and deals with the social questions of our time in a fair and dispassionate manner. . . . a very plesant one to read . . . it is throughout high toned and interesting. It is easy to see that the author is one of Ruskin's most loyal disciples."—Christian World.

CAPTAIN MAYNE REID'S POSTHUMOUS NOVELS.

Illustrated. Uniform in crown 8vo, cloth extra, gilt edges, 3*s.* 6*d.* each.

The Free Lances:

"We cannot believe that in their enthusiasm for such new favourites as M. Jules Verne, Mr. Henty, and others, the boys of England will be unfaithful to their old friend Capt Mayne Reid; and if they retain their loyalty, they will extend a very hearty welcome to Messrs. Sonnenschein's new and very attractive edition of 'The Free Lancers.'"—Manchester Examiner.

No Quarter! A Romance of the Parliamentary Wars.

"A rattling historical novel after the G. P. R. James and Harrison Ainsworth type. It takes us back to the days of the Cavaliers and Roundheads, and is marked by many episodes of an exciting and entertaining character."—Academy.

The Child Wife:

"As adventurous in tone as any of his tales, and has a variety of episode that should awaken the interest of the most blasé of readers."—Morning Post.

Gwen Wynn:

"It furnishes proof that the author could, if he had chosen, have covered a wider field in fiction than that with which his name is personally associated in the public mind."—Scottish Leader.

The Death Shot:

"Capt. Mayne Reid has a reputation to support, and in 'The Death Shot' he has by no means done himself injustice; the plot of the story is well worked out, and the various exciting incidents are told with his usual piquancy and force. The description of the scenery of several parts of America is admirable; while the tone of the book is healthy and invigorating."—Edinburgh Review.

The Flag of Distress:

"Vivid pictures are presented of Californian life in all its phases, and the toleration of crime and the venality of those appointed to punish the criminal during the great rush to the gold-field . . . graphically illustrated . . . written with equal force and fluency."—Observer.

The Naturalist in Siluria:

"This is a very readable book, written by a close observer of nature; very interesting. We heartily recommend the book to our readers."—Manchester Guardian.

The New Volume of "The Pen and Pencil" Series.

RUSSIAN PICTURES,

Drawn with Pen and Pencil. By THOMAS MICHELL, C.B., author of "Murray's Handbook to Russia," etc. With upwards of one hundred engravings. Imperial 8vo. 8*s.* cloth boards, gilt edges.

The "Pen and Pencil" volume for 1889. It is written by a gentleman who has spent a great part of his life in Russia, and who is familiar with the language and the people of that great empire. It is, of course, impossible in such limited space to give anything beyond the briefest sketch of many parts of the enormous area covered by Russia in Europe and Russia in Asia. But the effort has been made to compress into the chapters on Siberia, Central Asia, the Caucasus, etc., all that the intelligent general reader is likely to need; while such centres as St. Petersburg and Moscow are much more fully described. The maps and the numerous engravings render it possible for any careful reader to get accurate and fairly complete ideas of the many lands and peoples that are combined under the Czar's sway.

English Pictures. Drawn with Pen and Pencil. By the late Dr. SAMUEL MANNING and S. G. GREEN, D.D. With Engravings. New Edition. 8*s.*

BRENTANO'S NEW PUBLICATIONS.

One Volume. Royal 8vo, cloth gilt, 110 Illustrations, 16*s*.

ECHOES FROM THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

By J. W. CLAMPITT.

The Field, Sept. 21, says:—"There are few pages of modern history more interesting, or which contain more thrilling incidents. . . . In conclusion, we may say that there is hardly a subject connected with the exploration and development of the resources of the United States, west of the Missouri river, of which mention is not made in this book. It is also well illustrated, and written in an entertaining style."

Morning Post, Nov. 15, says:—"Not less interesting is his account of the early settlement of California, the Pacific Coast, and North Western Territories, following the discovery of gold by Marshall the Mormon, in Sutter's Mill Race on the Sacramento. The volume is rich in descriptions of wild, majestic scenery, and in tales of massacre, assassination, and theft. A special feature in Mr. Clampitt's work is the elaborate account given of the foundation and principles of the Mormon Religion. From old records the author has gathered up a stirring story of attacks on travellers and camps by Indians. To some extent the British public has been familiarised with the picturesque side of these outrages by Colonel Cody, with his 'Wild West' show, but the horrors of the reality, as described by Mr. Clampitt, far exceed the outlines suggested by Buffalo Bill. Mr. Clampitt may certainly claim due acknowledgment of the success of his labours in providing a complete popular account of the varied phases of the life of the pioneers and settlers in the vast and wealthy territories of the West at a time when bare existence depended upon individual courage, strength, and endurance. Many of the illustrations are excellent and give additional attractions to the volume."

"Dr. Keith Johnston's 'Royal Atlas,' ever since its publication in 1861, has maintained its ground as the best English Atlas on a large scale extant. Of the new maps added to the Atlas we can speak in unqualified praise. The maps of the western half of the Dominion of Canada and of Mexico, by Mr. T. B. Johnston, are creditable specimens of cartography, and need not fear comparison with any work produced elsewhere. Each map is provided with a separate index, and altogether the Atlas is one deserving the support and confidence of the public."—The Athenæum.

PETHERICK COLLECTION

OF

FAVOURITE AND APPROVED AUTHORS.

FOR CIRCULATION IN THE COLONIES ONLY.

"The volumes are got up in excellent style, type and paper being all that can be desired . . . . It is to be hoped that the enterprise shown by the Messrs. Petherick in thus providing the Colonies with high-class literature at low prices will meet with the success it deserves."—Australasian.

"We strongly advise those who are now beginning to collect libraries to subscribe to this series, for most certainly it promises to be the best collection of fiction in circulation. There are, no doubt, many other collections, but this has for its cardinal principle an extreme catholicity, and is varied as literature itself, comprehending as it goes on, specimens of the best writers."—European Mail.

The Queen, Feb. 22, says:—"Sure to find its way to any kitchen ruled by a cook worthy of the name."

The Field, Feb. 1:—"A work from the pen of the chef of Delmonico's must of necessity possess an interest in 'the Old Country,' and we have therefore much pleasure in introducing this volume to the notice of our readers . . . We can strongly recommend the work."

The Spectator, Feb. 15:—"Every one, it may be presumed, has heard of 'Delmonico's,' the famous New York restaurant; a happy minority have been privileged to dine there. The less fortunate majority may now have the satisfaction of knowing something about it, for Signor Filippini is the presiding spirit of the Delmonico kitchen."

The Bookseller, March:—"We may remind our readers that Delmonico's is the most famous restaurant in New York, and the reputation of its cuisine is of international celebrity."

Extracts from a few Critiques of the FIRST EDITION.

"An arduous and useful labour successfully accomplished: a work the like of which has not, in this country, been attempted. His system of classification and arrangement is excellent. Let us take it that the student wishes to ascertain the best books upon the struggles with Charles I. and his Commons. He turns to the division of 'HISTORY' (p); a sub-division is 'History of Europe' (iv.). Under F IV. he finds chapter 16, 'History of England: 1603-1655.' Here are first supplied the 'Sources,' and then follow at length the various works dealing with the epoch and the biography thereof. This is a mere outline of the main scheme. How conscientiously it is carried out, and what a mass of concurrent information is provided, can only be ascertained by a reference to the volume, which is a marvel of patient industry and, so far as we have tested it, of exactness."—Notes and Queries.

"The most accurate, scientific, and useful contribution that has ever been made to English bibliography;—exactly what was wanted—a full, thorough and accurate list of the best works on every subject. It is a permanent addition to English literature."—British Weekly.

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the usefulness of this work. It belongs to that class of works which every reader finds of service, but uses, as Johnson said, without gratitude! The more the guide is examined, the more struck will the reader be at its thoroughness."—Spectator.

"An excellent work, executed in a competent manner; the more we have looked at it, the better we have liked it."—Athenæum.

CAPTAIN MAYNE REID'S NEW NOVELS.

Uniform in crown 8vo, cloth extra, gilt edges, 3*s.* 6*d.* each; or picture boards, 2*s.* each.

The Child Wife. Illustrated.

"As adventurous in tone as any of his tales . . . should awaken the interest of the most blasé of readers."—Morning Post.

The Free Lances. Illustrated.

"We cannot believe that in their enthusiasm for such new favourites as M. Jules Verne, Mr. Henty, and others, the boys of England will be unfaithful to their old friend Capt. Mayne Reid; and if they retain their loyalty, they will extend a very hearty welcome to Messrs. Sonnenschein's new and very attractive editions."—Manchester Examiner.

The Death Shot. Illustrated.

"Capt. Mayne Reid has a reputation to support, and in 'The Death Shot' he has by no means done himself injustice; the plot of the story is well worked out, and the various exciting incidents are told with his usual piquancy and force. The description of the scenery of several parts of America is admirable; while the tone of the book is healthy and invigorating."—Edinburgh Review.

The Flag of Distress. Illustrated.

"Vivid pictures are presented of Californian life in all its phases, and the toleration of crime and the venality of those appointed to punish the criminal during the great rush to the gold-field will be found graphically illustrated in a narrative written with equal force and fluency."—Southampton Observer.

Gwen Wynn. Illustrated.

"It furnishes proof that the author could, if he had chosen, have covered a wider field in fiction than that with which his name is personally associated in the public mind."—Scottish Leader.

No Quarter! A Romance of the Parliamentary Wars. Illustrated.

"A rattling historical novel after the G. P. R. James and Harrison Ainsworth type. It takes us back to the days of the Cavaliers and Roundheads, and is marked by many episodes of an exciting and entertaining character."—Academy.

By CAPTAIN MAYNE REID. Uniform with the 3*s.* 6*d.* Edition of his Novels.

The Naturalist in Siluria. With many Wood-cuts.

"This is a very readable book, written by a close observer of nature . . . very interesting and pleasantly written. We heartily recommend the book to our readers."—Manchester Guardian.

By JOHN WILLIS CLARK, M.A., F.S.A., AND THOMAS McKENNY HUGHES, M.A.

"Beyond question, the principal book of the present week is 'The Life and Letters of the Reverend Adam Sedgwick.' . . . For more than half-a-century he almost represented Cambridge to the outside world, being a man of vigorous intellect, impressive character, and engaging personality, of liberal sympathies in politics and a recognised and respected authority on all matters connected with University organisation and discipline. His Life is almost a history of the University of Cambridge in his time, and a record of the growth and progress of many branches of scientific, especially geological, inquiry. All these sources of interest are skilfully combined in the volumes now before us, which will be eagerly read for their portrait of a singularly impressive personality and their vivid picture of a life full of energy and variety."—Times.

"The book is full of happy traits and pleasant pages that invite extract. It will be eagerly read by all who are interested in science, and by all who love genial human nature. It is illustrated by excellent portraits and valuable maps and cuts."—Scotsman.

Extracts from a few Critiques of the FIRST EDITION.

"An arduous and useful labour successfully accomplished: a work the like of which has not, in this country, been attempted. His system of classification and arrangement is excellent. Let us take it that the student wishes to ascertain the best books upon the struggles with Charles I. and his Commons. He turns to the division of 'HISTORY' (F); a sub-division is 'History of Europe' (IV.). Under F IV. he finds chapter 16, 'History of England: 1603-1655.' Here are first supplied the 'Sources,' and then follow at length the various works dealing with the epoch and the bibliography thereof. This is a mere outline of the main scheme. How conscientiously it is carried out, and what a mass of concurrent information is provided, can only be ascertained by a reference to the volume, which is a marvel of patient industry and, so far as we have tested it, of exactness."—Notes and Queries.

"The most accurate, scientific, and useful contribution that has ever been made to English bibliography;—exactly what was wanted—a full, thorough and accurate list of the best works on every subject. It is a permanent addition to English literature."—British Weekly.

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the usefulness of this work. It belongs to that class of works which every reader finds of service, but uses, as Johnson said, without gratitude! The more the guide is examined, the more struck will the reader be at its thoroughness."—Spectator.

"An excellent work, executed in a competent manner; the more we have looked at it, the better we have liked it."—Athenæum.

Illustrated Volumes containing between 300 and 400 pp.

THE CONTEMPORARY SCIENCE SERIES will bring within general reach of the English-speaking public the best that is known and thought in all departments of modern scientific research. The influence of the scientific spirit is now rapidly spreading in every field of human activity. Social progress, it is felt, must be guided and accompanied by accurate knowledge,—knowledge which is, in many departments, not yet open to the English reader. In the Contemporary Science Series all the questions of modern life—the various social and politico-economical problems of to-day, the most recent researches in the knowledge of man, the past and present experiences of the race, and the nature of its environment—will be frankly investigated and clearly presented.

IBSEN'S PROSE DRAMAS.

EDITED BY WILLIAM ARCHER.

Crown 8vo, Cloth. Price 3s. 6d. per Volume.

The Norwegian dramatist, HENRIK IBSEN, is at this moment one of the most widely-discussed, if not the best known, of European writers. His writings have given rise in Germany (to say nothing of the Scandinavian kingdoms) to a whole literature of books, pamphlets, and reviews; and his dramas have been everywhere received on the stage, not without hostile criticism, yet always with intense interest. France, which is not readily receptive of influences from without, possesses translations of his most noted dramas, to which M. Jules Lemaitre, the most accomplished of the younger generation of critics, has devoted a series of sympathetic feuilletons. His name has been made famous throughout the English-speaking world by the production of "A Doll's House" in London, Boston, New York and Melbourne. In each of these cities it excited an almost unprecedented storm of controversy. Hitherto there has existed no uniform and authoritative edition in English of the plays of which so much is being said and written. Several of them are not translated at all; others are translated with varying degrees of accuracy and literary skill, and are published in diverse forms. Mr. Walter Scott has concluded an arrangement with HENRIK IBSEN, under which he is now publishing a uniform series of his prose plays. Most of them will be translated and all will be carefully revised by Mr. William Archer. The series will include Ibsen's historical, as well as his social, dramas.

VOL. I.

With Portrait of the Author, and Biographical Introduction by WILLIAM ARCHER.

This Volume contains—

"A DOLL'S HOUSE," "THE LEAGUE OF YOUTH" (never before translated), and "THE PILLARS OF SOCIETY."

VOL. II.

"GHOSTS," "AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE," and "THE WILD DUCK." With an Introductory Note by WILLIAM ARCHER.

VOL III.

"LADY INGER OF ÖSTRÅT," "THE VIKINGS AT HELGELAND," and "THE PRETENDERS." With an Introductory Note by WILLIAM ARCHER and Portrait of Ibsen.

Among the Prose Dramas included in further volumes will be ROSMERSHOLM, THE LADY FROM THE SEA, etc. The sequence of the plays in each volume will be chronological; and the set of volumes comprising the dramas will thus present them, when complete, in chronological order.

Among more than One Hundred and Seventy Contributors to this Book may be mentioned—Sir Edwin Arnold, Mrs. A. E. Barr, William Black, Robert Browning, Mrs. Craik, J. A. Froude, W. S. Gilbert, Oliver W. Holmes, Tom Hughes, Jean Ingelow, Canon Liddon, Sir J. Lubbock, Edna Lyall, Justin McCarthy, Cardinal Manning, Dr. Joseph Parker, E. P. Roe, Samuel Smiles, C. H. Spurgeon, Rev. J. G. Wood, Charlotte Yonge.

Glasgow Herald:—"Likely to attract much attention among not only the great army of literary amateurs, but also among literary folk themselves, who are quite as curious about each other's methods of work as any outsider could be."

Scotsman:—"A reader who wishes to learn the art of composition would do better to attend to the directions of Mr. Bainton's book, all of which come to a few simple directions, than to devote his days and nights to the academic treatises."

Pall Mall Gazette:—"The interest of the book lies in the autobiographical details in which it abounds, and in the views of stylists upon the attainment and preservation of style which it contains."

City Press:—"The book is to be commended to the earnest attention of all beginners who are not averse to taking advice when it is tendered to them by those who have achieved distinction in the paths they themselves have commenced to tread."

Crown 8vo, cloth. Price Five Shillings.
